JUNIORS 46.

THE annual course of MEDICAL LECTURES begins one week after Commencement, and continues three months. Four Lectures are delivered daily; a part of the time, five. The fees of the course are fifty dollars. The matriculating fee is three dollars. The Library fee, for those who take books, is fifty cents. Surgical operations are performed gratuitously before the Medical Class, during the Lecture Term.

GRADUATION.

EACH candidate for the degree of M. D. must be twenty-one years of age; must possess a good moral character, an acquaintance with natural and experimental Philosophy, and a knowledge of the principles and construction of the Latin language; must have studied medicine three full years, with some regular practitioner; must have attended two courses of public Lectures in all the branches of the profession, at a regularly organized Medical Institution, one of which courses shall have been attended at this Institution; must have passed a successful private examination before the Medical Faculty; and must have read and defended, in their presence, an acceptable dissertation on some medical subject.

The graduating expenses are eighteen dollars.

THE Anatomical Cabinet contains a very large number of preparations, among which is a very perfect collection of French osteological preparations, illustrating the most important facts of this branch of medical science, both in the fetal and in the adult condition.

The Institution is furnished with an extensive surgical apparatus, well conditioned, and adapted to the recent improvements in this department of instruction.

The Museum, which is permanent, has been much enlarged, by a recent donation, and is constantly receiving accessions.

ADMISSION.

ALL Candidates for admission must present satisfactory testimonials of good moral character; and, if from other Colleges, of unexceptionable standing.

Candidates for the Freshman Class are examined in the Grammar of the English, Latin and Greek Languages; in the whole of Virgil; Cicero's Select Orations; Sallust; the Four Gospels; Jacob's Greek Reader, or an equivalent; Latin and Greek Prosody; Arithmetic; Bourdon's Algebra, through Equations of the First Degree, or an equivalent; and Ancient and Modern Geography. Translations from English into Latin are also required. Candidates for advanced standing, in addition to the above studies, are examined in the studies of the class which they propose to enter, or in others equivalent to them.

The times for examination are the Tuesday before Commencement, and the close of the vacation immediately following.

It is of great importance that Candidates for examination should be thoroughly versed in all the preparatory studies.

The tuition of the first term is required in advance.

Persons who desire to attend the lectures and recitations of particular departments only, may have that privilege—provided they are prepared to enter upon the studies of such departments, and become subject to the laws of College, as other students, so far as may be designated by the Faculty.

There is a public examination of the several classes, immediately before Commencement, in all the branches to which they have attended during the year, in the presence, and under the direction of a committee of gentlemen of education, invited by the Faculty to attend for that purpose. The Committee are expected, at the close of the examination, to express their judgment upon the merits of each student, and to recommend that he be advanced or degraded, as in their opinion he may deserve.
